General Comment

I will be retiring soon and will be relying heavily on my IRA savings. Please do not restrict my ability to use my account to maximize both my profits and my financial security by eliminating my ability to trade options in my account. I am well versed in the use of options and use it to increase income by using covered calls, for example. I also use it to buy puts as portfolio insurance. By eliminating the ability to trade options in my IRA account you will undermine my ability to support myself in retirement.
